SINGER BILLY BRAGG IN LOUTH

SINGER, songwriter and political activist Billy Bragg was spotted in Louth on Friday trying to buy rhubarb for his band's dinner.

Singer Billy Bragg

Louth based music legend Robert Wyatt said he saw Billy by chance in the Market Place. He said: "He's a great man and I've not seen him for years."

Mr Wyatt said Billy is recording at the Chapel Studio in South Thoresby – where Arctic Monkeys, Kaiser Chiefs and other top bands have recorded - and popped into Louth after his band said they fancied a rhubarb crumble.

It became a costly trip because rhubarb is out of season and Billy was hit with a parking ticket while chatting to Mr Wyatt.

Mr Wyatt, who is working on a new album due out in the autumn, said even though the rhubarb cost about £5, it would be worth it because a well fed musician is a happy musician.
